

Come along to the Look and Listen group to...

Learn how to help to support your child's pre-verbal skills:

- Eye contact
- Attention
- Breath control
- Copying
- Turn-taking

This group is for you if:

Your child is:

- at the pre-verbal stage of development
- not yet demonstrating any signs of 'communicative intent' e.g. eye gaze, vocalisations, pointing, gestures

Look and Listen

Parent-Child Interaction Group

Help make every moment an opportunity for communication

Children love to play and you are their first and favourite playmate!

Look and Listen will teach you how to use play to develop your child's language.

As a parent you are your child's first teacher. How you communicate with your child now can have a long term impact.

Why are speech and language skills so important?

Children with good speech and language skills are more likely to:

- Be school ready
- Develop literacy skills
- Have good social skills
- Get good qualifications
- Have a successful career

What happens at the Look and Listen group?

- You come with your child for 5 weeks.
- There is a structured play session where you will learn and practise ways to help your child's language skills.
- We will have a short circle time to show you games and songs you can do at home.
- You practise the strategy of the week at home with your child and feedback at the next group.
